"THE LARGEST AND BEST EQUIPPED SHOE HOUSE IN THE WEST."

Witchcraft Weavery.

If the fabled witches of Erin's Isle had set to work on their magic spinning-wheels, they could not have produced better fabrics than the Genuine Irish Homespuns we are showing. They are handspun and woven. The wool of which they're made is picked by the natives of Western Ireland from the furze and bushes, which tone it from the fleece of the cheviot sheep. The work of coloring is done by the same hands that picked the wool, the dyes being natural colors taken from mountain plants and shrubs.

The result is fabric that is sturdy and coloring that is unique. Exceedingly popular just now. Suits, $30 to $40. Flannel Trousers—Wash Vest—Linen Suits—Sweaters—Cutting Fabrics of every sort that men need.

WE should think there is not much fun in trying to wear heavy shoes over this city these hot days when a grand store as the CRAWFORD one has a contract with the "Transit Company" to let you out in a new pair of shoes which is in- comparably better than the old ones. CRAWFORD's is a store clean and bright as a new pin, with electric fans, eternally on the revolve! Oceans of clear- crystal drinking water at a temperature of 40 degrees; a store which is in- comparable; prices which are unapproach- able; and service which is faultless! But we have said as much before on several oc- casions!

EMPEROR OFFENDS CHURCH AUTHORITIES

William's Theology Causes Grave Distrust Among the Orthodox Clergy of Germany.

A PROFESSOR'S TEMERITY.

Boldly Reviews at Church Conference Kaiser's Coquetry With Heterodox Writers—Cause of Present Agitation.

Berlin, May 17.—The theology of Emperor William continues to cause grave distrust among the orthodox clergy. Professor George Heinrich of Leipzig, with a boldness rarely shown in a state or church, deliberately reviewed, at the recent church conference, Emperor William's coquetry with heterodox writers.

Professor Heinrich alluded to the circulation of Professor Delitzsch's "Babel and Bible," with the subtitle "An Address Delivered Twice Before His Majesty, the Emperor," and said this was creating a feeling of unrest and uncertainty in church circles.

The professor regretted also that Professor Delitzsch's pamphlet was having such an enormous sale.

Professor Heinrich referred to the "extraordinary distribution of Houton Stewart Chamberlain's 'Foundation of the Nineteenth Century,'" which, it was well known at the court, had made a strong impression upon the Emperor's mind, it being one of the few new books which his Majesty said he had found time to read.

"Bad Outlook for Theology," Mr. Chamberlain is of English birth, does literary work in the German language and lives at Vienna. When the author of "The Foundation of the Nineteenth Century" was in Berlin recently Emperor William sent for him and showed him marked attention at the palace, thus giving offense to the church.

Professor Heinrich, commenting upon Mr. Chamberlain's book, said it was a bad outlook for theology when public opinion was thus misled. The professor's audacious utterances have produced animated controversy among church people.

Although no other member of the Lutheran Church Conference supported the professor in his remarks concerning Emperor William, no member combated them or attempted to defend the soundness of his Majesty's theology.

OBJECTED TO RAILROAD SALOON

Prohibition Superintendent Threatened to Remove the Depot.

Bloomington, Ill., May 17.—H. A. Boomer, superintendent of this division of the Lake Erie and Western road, is a strong temperance man. At Bensenville a resident erected a handsome brick building near the depot which was announced a saloon was to be opened. Superintendent Boomer, forthwith notified the saloon was opened there, and the road moved its depot to the opposite side of the building, which would greatly depreciate the value of the brick building in question.

SHARP CONTESTION FOR DAVIS MANSION

White House Association Trying to Save Building Occupied by Confederate Leader.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Montgomery, Ala., May 17.—The fine old Southern mansion in which as President of the Southern Confederacy, Jefferson Davis resided during the few months before the capital was removed from Montgomery to Richmond is just now a center of interest. Some years ago the Alabama division of the Daughters of the Confederacy decided that they would buy the old place and preserve it as a museum and library. A White House committee was duly appointed and instructed to proceed with the raising of the money. Later on one of the two Montgomery chapters turned against the enterprise and set about to abolish the work. Out of the struggle two more chapters were evolved in this city, so that there are now two on each side of the proposition.

The committee, feeling that it could not legally hold property, procured a charter for a new concern called the First White House Association, and after some of the most charming lobby work ever seen about the Alabama Capitol secured the passage through the last Legislature of a bill appropriating $2500 for the purchase of the house in the name of the new association. But the Governor vetoed the bill, nothing daunted, they have continued the work and now have in hand some $1000.

At several meetings of the State division there has been a sharp struggle over abolishing the enterprise, but the White House faction has always won. Wearing of the struggle, they let it go by default at the annual convention, which has just been held in Demopolis, and the work was not only abolished but the committee ordered to turn over its funds to the general treasury, to be used for some other purpose. This is where the interesting part of the story comes in.

Mrs. Davis's Aid Entitled. About four years ago the White House Committee went to Beauvoir and procured from Mrs. Jefferson Davis as a gift the most valuable memento of her husband now in existence, being his complete set of bedroom furniture just as he used it in his last days, with all the little bits and bobs about the house. Mrs. Davis gave the relic in a letter to the White House Committee in perpetuity, to be taken care of by the Governor of Alabama at the Capitol until such time as the Montgomery White House should be purchased and ready for them. They now occupy a room at the Capitol and are the center of interest to all visitors.

The question has been a live one as to what would become of these valuable relics in case the daughters abandoned the work of preserving the White House, the designated repository in the deed of gift.

The new White House Association, everybody's surprise, announced that it prepared for just that emergency, and presented the relic to the new association in event the daughters ever abolish the work. The relic was given to the new association, and was especially designed to meet the contingency that has arisen from the victory of the White House opponents at Demopolis. The opposition is thus taken unawares, the new association will carry on the work of preserving the old mansion and the relics of Mr. Davis pass from the White House Committee to the White House Association.

The White House itself is held at $5000 by the owner, and the design is to move it to a lot adjoining the grounds of the State Capitol.

At 10 o'clock the morning services begin. The singing of the congregation will be accompanied by the band. Choirs of mixed voices, under the direction of Messrs. Barthel and Hoerster, respectively, will render suitable numbers. In the afternoon services a chorale as sung by the ladies' choir, under the direction of Professor Walke, will render music.

CURES WEAK MEN FREE.

Insures Love and a Happy Home for All. How many men may quickly cure themselves of the worst of ailments, such as weakness, loss of vitality, night losses, varicocele, etc., and enlarge small weak organs to full size and vigor. Send your name and address to Dr. Knapp Medical Co., 745 Hull building, Detroit, Mich., and they will gladly send the free receipt with full directions so any man may easily cure himself at home. This is not only a most generous offer, and the following extracts from their daily mail, show what men think of their medicine.

"Dear Sirs—Please accept my sincere thanks for your recent date. I have given your treatment a thorough test and the benefit has been extraordinary. It has completely braced me up. I am now vigorous as when a boy, and you cannot realize how happy I am."

"Dear Sirs—Your method worked beautifully. Results were exactly what I needed. Strength and vigor have completely returned and enlargement is entirely satisfactory."

"Dear Sirs—Yours was received, and I have been repeating to-day with some show of authority that the Western Union Telegraph Company received notice yesterday from the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to vacate its occupancy of the right-of-way of the Pennsylvania system; also to vacate all the telegraph offices and stations on the premises of the Pennsylvania Railroad system."

It is added that the Postal Telegraph Company will take up the Western Union contract upon terms satisfactory to both parties.

This action by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has been threatened for some time, in view of the incursion of Mr. Gould's railroad system into the Pennsylvania territory.

The extension of the Wabash system to Pittsburgh was not favorably regarded by the Pennsylvania, but was allowed to stand without further protest, on the basis that such a system, backed by the Missouri Pacific, might need Pittsburgh facilities.

The aggression of the Goulds in buying the Western Maryland line, planning an outlet to seaboard in competition with the Pennsylvania system, however, led at once to the threatened war between the Western Union and the Goulds.

He came to the Indian Territory with his parents and was born in the Creek Nation, to remember the old nation. His paternal grandmother was a Cherokee Indian of the type once known as the Chickasaws, and a blood relative to the king of the Chickasaws, known as Dragging Canoe. He was named by his mother, "Se Sa," which was finally changed to Caesar.

An Important Territory Decision. REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Vinita, I. T., May 17.—Judge C. W. Raymond has handed down an important decision in the United States Court for the Northern District of the Indian Territory, which is of more interest to the people of the Indian Territory than has been in use seven years or more. This is a decision that covers many cases where allottees have fenced up road which have been traveled by the people for many years. The penalty for such violations of the law has as yet not been stated by the court.
